

Notice of Copyright and Disclaimer

This notice is for the attached document and shall be kept attached either:

- physically for a printed copy on paper or similar media; or
- electronically, either by merging this file with the document file, or ensuring that the two files are kept associated by a suitable means in any data storage system.

The document, which is the subject of this Notice, has been retrieved from a restricted electronic repository. The repository is made up of the Websites:

- escies.org
- spacecomponents.org

Content is restricted, via access control provisions, to a defined user group.

Copyright©

The attached document shall be kept intact and may be redistributed, in electronic or hardcopy format within the confines of the identified user group, provided that the document and this notice remain associated. The document may not under any circumstance be distributed to persons not members of the user group without the prior written permission of the document owner. The document may not under any circumstance be sold or distributed for compensation of any kind.

Any other use of the document is prohibited without the prior written agreement of the document owner.

Disclaimer

All information is provided "as is," there is no warranty that the information is correct or suitable for any purpose, either implicit or explicit.

(Where the document owner is not explicitly identified inquiries as to adherence to the copyright provisions may be directed to the Webmaster of the Website from which the document was retrieved.)